

Dear Staff:

Wow! I can't believe 31 days went this fast. When I first came in I was really tattered and torn looking for answers that I couldn't find. My whole life I never wanted any help and was afraid to ask, but now I know that its okay to feel weak and ask for strength. I can't explain in words what you all have done for me, you guys truly work miracles. I know that I have an interesting journey ahead of me and I will always reflect on the time spent here, when ^{ever} I feel or think of the word surrender. I have though, surrendered to this disease and put my will and spirit in the hands of God for I know he will guide me in my every day life.

Since I can remember I've always wanted to live a righteous life but couldn't because of self-limiting beliefs, but ^{with} all of you, and my efforts to get better, have totally changed my attitude towards that. There is no way I could have done any of this without all of your love and support. You are all truly amazing, not only because of what you do, but because of your unconditional love for each and every client. I was really scared when I first came in and that says a lot because I was never scared of too many things, but you all made me feel ~~that~~ that I was really in the right place. It is now much easier for me to trust another human being to guide me in my affairs.

Once again, I can't explain what all of you have done for me, so many things! From learning to make my bed everyday to believing in God again. I love all of you and God bless!

Thank you so very much,
Andrew T.
